

Overflow Policy for Credit

We are excited to offer this new opportunity for mentorship to students! With approval from Student Development, successful Overflow participants will be exempt from enrichment credit requirements for their full semester of involvement.

We have decided to distribute these alternative credits as a percentage based on participation. Half way through the semester, you will receive exemption from enrichment credits based on your level of participation so far. Example: If you missed 2 meetings in the first half of the semester, you will receive 50% exemption from enrichment credits for the first half of the semester. This means in order to receive full exemption from enrichment credits, you must attend your mentorship meeting every week for the remainder of the semester. This exemption reduces your number of required credits, not giving you credits. If your requirement is 30 enrichment credits, after mid-semester your requirement will be 15.

Each mentee will be allowed 2 absent weeks through the semester, which includes 12 weeks of expected attendance. Students are expected to communicate with their mentors if there needs to be a change in time/location. (Meeting for 1 hour does not count as 2 meetings).

What is a successful participant?

- A successful participant meets with their mentor for the required minimum of 30 minutes per week.
- A successful participant actively engages in activities, decided on with their mentor, to reach their personal spiritual goals.
- A successful participant may (not required) choose to continue to be involved in corporate worship opportunities (residence hall worships, vespers, etc.) just as much, if not more, than if they were not involved in Overflow.

I understand that my successful participation is required for me to receive exemption from enrichment credits for this semester at Southern Adventist University. I understand that if I should be absent more than 2 times through the semester, I will not receive full exemption from enrichment credits but rather for a percentage based on my level of participation.
